CleanRest is an established brand with already existing functional ecommerce website. There are several reasons for CleanRest to redesign their ecommerce website.

1. Website matches and complement new collateral and branding materials.
2. Ecommerce part of the website is much more prominent right on the homepage and drive consumers to complete the order.
3. The educational part and information is organized in one area under "BedBug411 link and should not overwhelm the ecommerce.
4. Website content is easily editable.

Hydraulic Fracturing

Background

Hydraulic fracturing ("fracking") is a drilling process that uses pressurized fluid mix of water, proppant (usually a mix of sand or ceramic materials), and chemicals to break apart shale gas and release the gas into the drilling well. The internal pressure of the rock then pushes the injected fluid to the surface ("flowback"), where it is stored either in tanks for treatment, disposal or recycling, or injected back into underground wastewater disposal wells. see the Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) information pages on fracking for more information here and here. see the U.S. Geological Survey's information page here.

Some reported benefits of fracking as opposed to conventional gas drilling or other energy production sources include cheaper natural gas for consumers; an employment and production boom in regions with shale gas formations; and the relative
